VOTE FOR SULLIVAN FAILS

Four Fruitless Efforts Made to Approve Naming of New Police Superintendent.

Appropriation of funds for the com munity center department of the public schools, the municipal playground department and the minimum wage board on the same basis as other expense of the District government, instead o out of the revenues of the city, is urged in a resolution adopted by the Federation of Citizens' Associations, at a meet ing last night in the District building The minimum wage board and the community center and the playground departments, the resolution provided, should receive no further consideration than other departments of the municipal government. It also pointed out that the federal government should bear its share of financing these departments. The resolution was originally adopted by the Columbia Heights Citizen. ed by the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, but included in its provisions only the playground depart-William Mck. Four unsuccessful attempts were made during the meeting to indorse the appointment of Maj. Daniel Sul-livan as superintendent of police, and to commend the Commissioners for selecting him. Each effort was ruled down on an objection by William B. Westlake, under the unanimous consent rule of the association. Mr. Westlake emphasized that he was not opposing the indorsement of Maj. Sullivan, but objected to the hasty deliberations of the association on matters coming before it for consideration.

consideration.

When the arguments over the resolution waxed warm, Mr. Westlake admonished the delegates "not to make monkeys of themselves."

"I am not opposing any action of the federation," he said, "but I do not propose that the federation shall act hastily on this matter. We have been criticised on Capitol Hill for rushing resolutions through this body."

Mr. Ashford pointed out that the revised rules "stop at a point in which the federation is particularly interested." "We are still in doubt," he said. "as to the attitude of the board of education." He also declared that the federation should still its contravers. with the school clared that the federation should settle its controversy with the school board in writing, emphasizing that "it would be more satisfactory" than holding a conference with a committee appointed by the school governing body for that purpose.

Will Consider Constitution. The federation voted to devote it entire meeting on March 18 to a dis cussion of the proposed revision of the constitution of the organization. The proposed revision of the consti-tution as reported by Mr. Westlake, chairman of the special committee ap-pointed for this purpose include the following:

Changing of the name of the Federation of Citizens' Associations to the Council of Federation of Citizens; the appointment of alternate delegates, and the addition of a ways and means com mittee to the standing committees. A schedule of dues for the delegates and the associations also is provided. Copies of the constitution, with the proposed revisions, were ordered sent to all the citiezns' associations this week for consideration.
